Dynamic optimization Chapter 5 deals essentially with static optimization, that is optimal choice at a single point of time. Many economic models involve optimization over time. While the same principles of optimization apply to dynamic models, new considerations arise. On the one hand, the repetitive nature of dynamic models adds additional structure to the model which can be exploited in ...

Worked Examples in Dynamic Optimization: ... The dynamic economizing problem may be solved in three different approaches. The first approach going back up to Bernoulli in the very late 1600s is the calculus of variations. The second is the maximum principal developed in the 1950s by Pontryagin and his co-workers. The third approach is dynamic programming developed by Bellman about the same ...

The field of structural optimization is still a relatively new field undergoing rapid changes in methods and focus. Until recently there was a severe imbalance between the enormous amount of literature on the subject, and the paucity of applications to practical design problems.
